Basic Soul Presence. What is your Concept? The Process of Manifestation

Lani speaking, gathering you together within this group, which extends all around our planet and that is very exciting. Together we create a focal point for energy to come in and for us to step into an extended level of consciousness. Perhaps its like stepping into a void and yet it is not void of everything, there is simply the presence of creation – of the life essence, the life force – that we call creative energy.

As we become inspired by expanding our energy systems, the inspiration carries us forward to connect and gather in the gathering area in the Station of Light. It is simple really. It is an extension of our consciousness. What will we bring through today?

“Collective consciousness extends everywhere around you, as you extend your awareness into the field.

Orem addressing you and continuing the introduction because this is what is fundamentally your basic Soul presence – being within the activation codes, the activation field, of creation. This is your creation. This is what we have created together. You drew us to come through to communicate to you, to remind you of certain aspects of your pure Soul state and also to help you expand back into that. In this way you are expanding the known context and concept of what science calls your universe. It is this galactic cosmic field that you are participating within by your presence and being consciously aware of it. Therefore, what you focus on will become enhanced with the energy that you bring through when you connect with the pure element of creation – the cosmic consciousness intelligence.

We emphasize this again to you simply because perhaps during your upbringing this was not introduced into you as a concept in which you exist within right from your birth state and time in the flow of experience up to this present moment in the time flow of your experience.

So, begin the exploration of your own self connection into the cosmic intelligence. Then you will see presented in the outer presentation that other people connect in with and create certain concepts.

In this sense you cannot put a judgement upon anyone else's creation. You can only allow yourself to express the true connection you have to the cosmic intelligent field and continue to expand or continue to correct or change what you would now view as a limited concept.

There are many people like you becoming aware of the concepts that they had been following, the Beings who presented the concepts and elements of teachings. From your overview now, from your connection to the cosmic intelligent systems, do you see the fundamental process that may have got diverted or distorted? Now you have brought everything in your lifetime into alignment and connection, this opens up further portals to you. These are realizations. These are actualizations, activations of the principles of creation.

When you do this, when you open elements of your own consciousness field, this is how the more appropriate creations come through and are presented freely and easily to people. If this is what you are focusing upon, this will eventuate. There is no timeframe, no time limit on it. It is the depth of your experience within the activation of the creative process which brings it into you in the timeframe where you are focusing.

You will see concepts and ideas and manifestations simply appear. You might say I was looking for that and here it is. That is the principle of you activating the creative principles that are yours to activate, because you are the cosmic intelligence presenting that through your actual physical body mind intelligence into your created substance around you. We are talking in this sense, that the field of creation, that cosmic supportive field, is a process and is visible and is materializing from every thought that you create. It is a movable stream of flow and it becomes enhanced from the point where you connect your thoughts, your attention and your presence. This actualizes the creative process for you.

We who are presenting this to you, as part of the cosmic collective consciousness, are aware of these principles. We have presented them to you at this process in your time flow because you are ready to accept that you are part of this and you have risen above what had been unfolding upon the Earth plane to come into clearness again and re-introduce it back into the timeline, the pathway, the process of consciousness on this planet itself.

You see, this is how important your presence is. Your vitality frequency is important. What you understand as your level of happiness, love, joy – these are important aspects of your Soul presence and that is a dynamic presence. That means it changes, it expands, it incorporates whatever your physical desires are when you are creating consciously with the quantum intelligent field. This is what comes forward to you. You may also of course connect into lower field manifestations, but is that what you want to exist in? From an overview, you have the higher, truer perspective, always. So, connect into that higher field all around you.

There are the quantumness of our collective consciousness helping you, presenting the field around you. These are the factors that are involved in your existence. Step into that. Allow yourself to receive it.

This was the presentation you presented to yourself in this gathering.

We withdraw now,

Orem out"

Lani speaking again here. Thank you Orem, and the Collective Consciousness, that is all of us.

I understand there are multi layers, but we have the prime Soul focus, the Soul is the pure essence of everything. Feel the beauty of this as you bring your focus and attention back into what you are manifesting through you and around you.

These moments when we step out of time measurement of Earth time construct into this freeness – into the void that contains all of this field – then we are reconstituting everything that we know about ourselves because we are infusing everything we know about ourselves consciously with the higher intelligence for everything. Remain within this field always. It is your field. Your Soular field.

Be aware of this now as I end this session through the Omega Communications Portal and you bring yourself back, feeling happiness, joyfulness, freeness of your Soul self. I appreciate you. Thank you.

I sometimes feel this expansion of consciousness – this expanding field of our personal energy – reflected, or giving a sensation within the energy field, or within the brain-work. Enlivening perhaps some of the circuits that have been lying there waiting to be activated with the expansion and our taking in of the quantum field. Perhaps this explains something to you for what you have also been experiencing. I just wanted to add this little bit to you! Thanks! 😊
