Enlivening your matrix

I welcome you, Lani again drawing you into this gathering. At whatever time or day you connect with the sessions, and this session, it is always the right time for you. It is when you have chosen to step away from concerns of the external experience and you move into your internal experience as your infinite self.

This is this energy self of you – the full consciousness of you – which gathers with us in that space – the interdimensional space – and the area of the Station of Light.

Perhaps this is your station and it reminds you that you are stationed in your life in the pattern of unfolding consciousness on the Earth planet. It is all one, in a sense. It depends on the level – the frequency pattern – that you connect with.

So, as we gather here today, be open and curious as to what will come through to us.

“We welcome you to this central gathering position and state of you, where you are receiving elements of creation, information and energy so that you are able to position yourself physically perhaps in a different way.

It does not mean you have to relocate somewhere, although perhaps you are. It simply is relocating your attention, your focus, into the greater galactic sense of the intelligent creation of all life.

This has an impact upon you, on all the levels of consciousness that you exist as, whether it is the very fine energy system, the etheric state you might call it, or whether you think about the physical structure of the form – it is all layers of frequency patterns.

Even existing and receiving this flow of energy through the words in this gathering space, you are responding to it in the multidimensional frequency existences that have always been known as you – the essential you – manifesting, creating civilizations wherever you are. It is all about creating beauty of the prime creative frequency pattern coming through you as the creator, the prime creator, in your own life. Your choices.

You are individualizing the beautiful original frequency pattern of creative life patterns.

You may be observing in your daily routines and activities you notice different things about other people around you. Their mannerisms, the way they speak, their attitude toward life, their attitude toward you, whether they see you or not. All of these factors you are continuously processing. In the processing there are levels in your own constitution which will react or respond to what you are observing. Therefore, again, your focus should be in the very highest aspect of your consciousness field, in the expansion field.

This gives you the sense of enlivening you, raising your frequency pattern above and beyond where it had been where you were involved or engaged in some activity or discussion. That is all important because you placed yourself in whatever position to observe or participate in activities.

Relate this to you as the life essence – your soul – coming into the civilization and the reality, observing from a greater perspective, observing from the quantum field – the living matrix of life – what is occurring around you. When you do that, you are able to change some of the processes and energy field. We talk about this in this session.

When you raise your energy frequency into the greater intelligent matrix – the connecting energy field that is consciousness - this is how changes occur because you are enlivening your own energy matrix field from the original source pattern that surrounds you, surrounds you everywhere you travel and this incorporates travelling in other states of consciousness, or activities or presences that you might say of your spiritual aspect, the spirit, the energy field, that does not have the substance of your physical form, so you are free to travel.

Make sure that you contact your prime energy frequency overlaying energy matrix field. Incorporate this into your daily activities from the moment when you become aware you are waking up from sleep, from dream state, from an altered reality that you enter during your sleep pattern. So you reconnect consciously to the prime source of life and the energy matrix field surrounding you. That is always there and when you recognize that, it automatically comes in through you into all the elements, which are energy systems, that comprise your physical body form.

This is how you reinstate the original pattern of beauty for the wholistic template for the creation of the body form. Again, we say this relates to the creation of the consciousness field and the conscious existence of the planet system.

You are engaged in the energy matrix field of that and yet the prime energy matrix is from the original point of creation.

We reiterate that to you and it will help you to step aside from any suggestions presented to you that you are anything else.

During your growth period, your movement through your flowingness of time experience from a baby, from an infant, there are energy systems that you pick up in your energy field, so when you reconnect with your prime energy field of creation, there is an automatic clearing away from your energy field.

You can do this consciously, by your conscious connection always. It is a continuation of regenerating energy fields and processes throughout you and when all of those are working properly, when the pathways are all clear and connected, this is also reflected out into the surroundings.

Our prime directive has always been to present this to you in an ongoing way. A refreshment, a refresher course of what life is.

And so it is and this is what we came forward to again deliver to you in this gathering space. We withdraw now. Orem, as the representative delivering it to you from source – from connected consciousness field.

You are always able to access further information from the direct connection you have to the quantum consciousness field.

We will continue in further sessions.

Orem out”

Lani speaking again and as I reposition my consciousness into the field that I allowed this information to come through me, then I am fully present again, fully present here with you in the expanded field of this Station of Light and fully present aware of where I am as a body form stationed.

As I am speaking these words of course, it brings your awareness back into where you are stationed in your life pattern. Remember the expanded matrix field explained to you that is all around you and that it is simply receiving the continuous information patterns from source creation for you. You must initiate this and gather it within you so you continue to be a strong, clear, intelligent field – cosmic intelligence – quantum field intelligence. That is the natural state of you – your true essence.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal.

Thanks for being here, thanks for sharing the information. It all adds to the overall expansion of consciousness. You may feel as you move deeper and deeper inside yourself to the central essential Being that you are. It is very strengthening, I feel.

This is all of this session from me. Thank you.
