“As we welcome you into this energetic space, we ask you to move more deeply into your connected state of consciousness. This is the state of consciousness where you consciously connect into truth, into the quasmic field of intelligent design. The deeper that you connect into this field that we are describing to you, you feel it within your own vibration.

This is the important element for you to recognize. Recognize that you are a frequency, a vibration, an energy field and therefore the more that you open and expand and increase your energy field, you are putting that energy out around you.

It creates a stable or a balanced energy system emanating from you and yet you are drawing it in from the quantum intelligent system beyond the Earth substance and the consciousness and the collective consciousness which is contained in and modelling the Earth planet sphere and existence.

We are speaking about accessing the original design again and as you connect with that consciously, which is also your original pure intelligent design, you are actually bringing it in to calm and stabilize whatever is occurring around you. You would understand that there has been a shift, a movement, in the substance of the ground and the core energy system of the planetary being. Its consciousness field is shifting, just in a similar way that your consciousness is shifting and it is shifting your beingness, it is shifting your attitude to life, shifting your attitude to self and it is shifting you into being more strongly connected into that peaceful state and station that you are.

You are creating the station of peace. More than that, the peace emanates a system of energy field which you connect with and the connection is expanding a similar field to what you are emanating. This is why it is important for you to connect firstly with the pure element of design, and so this connects and it is creating another field of consciousness for you all to exist in and to recognize it exists. It exists above any lower field turbulence. Remember this. The turbulence will settle as you settle everything about your energy frequency, because you are a frequency, an energy design.

Thinking about yourself as an energy design, you would then see that there are patterns which need to be more aligned, or more in sequence, in harmonic resonance with the pure aspect of design. Apply this to what you may be observing in many of the countries, many of the land masses, on this planetary consciousness system – the land mass, of course – and then you see there is a sequence of events happening, outworking, and there is a relinquishment of an over-riding, long standing influence which has been controlling people. There is a clearing away of those elements, allowing greater freedom.

You have allowed yourself to have greater freedom simply by reconnecting back to the quasmic intelligent field, the original design. This is why it is important for you to acknowledge that, to remember it and to allow the energy frequencies to revitalize the energy patterns, the design, the frequency patterns that you are.

You recognize of course that you more than the physical body which is measured by science, shown in drawings and examinations. There is a life force, a liveliness, within every process and every cell and so as you raise your vitality system, the cells and the consciousness of the cells come into a greater resonating harmony with the existing and the original design pattern which is a frequency, all contained in the original cell seed.

Earth - one cell within the quasmic field. Seeding the planet

Hello. Lani speaking and welcoming you to this space. Are you in a central, calm space yourself, within yourself and of yourself? Regardless of what may be occurring around you in the world or in the energy, we still have that central point of calmness, stillness, but it is a very powerful point to be in.

As you realise this and we connect together as a group, we move together into the quasmic collective consciousness field and we gather in that area, that space, that sphere, known as the Station of Light. Bring yourself in your individual sphere into the quasmic collective sphere and as we station ourselves here, we are open to receive more energy and information in whatever way is needed.

Thank you.

When we go back to remind you of this and for you to sense and visualize the original encoded seed, then you understand the necessity to remember it came from a pure intelligent design for a human body. Then, as you have continued through your life experiences, that had become changed, so again, as you go back to the initiation period and process you are bringing the energy systems of you into harmony.

The frequency becomes more apparent then, the vibration of what is needed as an energy system. Of course, you can do this in many ways and you will already be doing this in some way, utilizing what you are drawn to. The basis behind every element that you might access to assist you is the core design of you and your natural processes.

You central core processor for your life pattern recognizes the perfect resonating field of what you would be accessing, again, to revitalize your life and to revitalize the life all around you, all around the planet. It is revitalized by the overlaying energy matrix field of the quasmic intelligence.

You will be accessing this, we have drawn your attention to this quasmic intelligent matrix field, it is a connected field overlaying all around the entire planet, as if it is one seed, one cell, within the quasmic field of consciousness and you are helping it to unfold, to raise the vitality and frequency. You would recognize there is also the source of energy system shining upon you, upon the planet, upon the other vessels of life within the vector of creation that Earth exists within.

You are part of this quasmic design. You, every aspect of you, your energy system, your consciousness, the body cellular consciousness, is part of the overall design.

You will be now understanding the natural instinct you have to go beyond what has been recognized as one Earth system and accessing the quasmic field.

Thus, you are.

This is the presentation that you are within, in this moment. “

Lani coming back and presenting myself to you all and enjoying this experience.

Sometimes we feel scattered or distracted from that core central intelligent system that we each are and we get distracted from that by what is occurring around us.

I enjoy bringing these reminders to myself, and to you, and together we are part of the quasmic matrix of conscious intelligence.

This is the design that you are and indeed we have been seeded on this planet. Continue unfolding, continue expanding and growing, we are all together in that one intention.

Now we bring the attention back into the environment where you are. Remember you have your individual sphere – that is your station. You are within your station and I mean that in regard to your personal energy central system – your energy sphere that is you – stationed here within this planet.

Thank you for being here and this ends this transmission through the Omega Communications Portal.
