“As you embrace yourself within the field here and you embrace the field, you are bringing into the collective consciousness field, memories, experiences and energy systems that you recognize are part of the constitution of the Earth system, the entire planetoid sphere and its system. You are one within that system. A very important ‘one’ and it is your Oneness which is the Quantumness of you – it is the quasmic energy system that is you that contributes to the oneness of the planetary system itself – the planetoid – and this is what you are bringing into the collective consciousness within this quasmic field.

This is why we keep coming forth to you to remind you to maintain your connection as the quantum field and as the consciousness that you are, incorporating the quantumness and the quasmic energy of all. This is why it is important to remind you of that so that you hold a state of a higher evolved system.

Going back over previous information reminding you - you knew you were coming into this body form because you would be experiencing and participating in the raising of the energy field, the frequency pattern and it is the frequency that we have come to recognize and you have come to recognize as consciousness. A measurement that could be identified as consciousness, as the greater frequency that you, yourself vibrate and it resonates with the quasmic field of all creation. You are raising the frequency. You are raising consciousness as you become more conscious of the increased frequency levels.

We use so many different words to help you understand but please do not be limited by the words that you have learned to interpret which mean something. Always go into the essence, the energy field, the intention of what is being delivered to you, spoken to you and you will recognize this in your daily existing patterns of life.

So, as you resonate more with the frequency pattern of the quasmic field, this is where you have the knowledge and the presence of communicating with Beings similar to yourself in that frequency pattern. You may interpret, as we speak to you as the collective, that you individualize us and you wonder if these are specific Beings and creatures with a name. Moving beyond that, we simply are the collective consciousness.

In that sense you are a collective consciousness present, existing in the Earth pattern but we do individualize you because we recognise your individual frequency within that overall frequency pattern and we recognize the frequency design that is you and it is this design from the original creative intelligent design for the humanoid body. We recognize this as where you are stationed as your quasmic self stationed within that energetic design known as your lifeform.

Your lifeform is not solid. Your lifeform is a pattern of frequency and within it all is the original intelligent design with all of its workings and this is what you are functioning within and as and through and in this instance the you that we refer to is your quasmic intelligent self – the bringer of the energy information patterns into your life, into your surroundings, into the existence of the planetoid sphere. This is the importance of you.

You may be participating in grand designs, technical expertise, creative expertise, with technology in some form, but you still have the quasmic intelligent design which would be the impetus that you function as and you follow the impetus to keep improving design.

The impetus to improve

Lani bringing you these communications. Now that I have opened the Portal and linked with you and you have linked into the collective consciousness, then as we begin this, you will already be feeling settling within you. It is wonderful to take time out and to go within and spend time within the essence of your Being – within the quantumness of you.

So, we begin this session as usual by gathering in a space together within the Station of Light. Just be open to receive the energy and information coming to you.

In your bodily functioning existence you have the impetus to continue to improve the design of the physicality energy system which may have become disturbed in the experience and of the experiences that you have had to this moment as we are communicating with you.

So, again, when you recognize the original intelligent design and that existing code that remains within your consciousness field, then this is the way that you are following the impetus to improve and maintain and sustain your existence so that your quasmic self will continue

You will be aware of exploration to other planetoid areas and the information which is being received, being interpreted in many ways, some information is being withheld, but the sense that you must continue to have is that you have the awareness of other life patterns existing, but the awareness of you here in this planetoid sphere is the most important essence and presence and information state for you.

This does incorporate those ones of you who have travelled into the outer areas beyond the original planetoid existence. You still have that original design necessary to continue to support you in every way.

As you resonate with the frequency field here of the collective consciousness, you will be feeling settling within you, balancing and incorporation of the frequency as we speak about the quasmic field frequency. This is being incorporated into the intelligent system, the consciousness, that you recognize as simply the planet. You see, it is all one design.

You must follow the impetus that will help you find and locate and be in the perfect location for you, the perfect placement with people with the energy systems of other creatures.

It all part of your intelligent design – your cosmic presence.

In this collective we again have brought to your conscious attention many of the functions and information patterns that will be necessary for you and that are entirely appropriate for you. No-one else will be receiving the specific energy patterns, even in this deliverance, that is unique to you because you interpret what you need to interpret from the quasmic entirety of the collective consciousness. This is a unique function and adaptability that you have.

Now you see you are adapting to the original intention of the quantum intelligent design.

You have received this. This was our intention in this gathering space with you. Thank you.”

Lani again speaking, connecting myself, my consciousness that is to do with this lifeform and it is always interesting to receive the frequency pattern.

You will have received what was appropriate for you in this moment. Perhaps when you re-listen to this you will receive another aspect, another realization. Receiving is realizing and releasing. This is what you brought through into your life presence in this moment.

Enjoy this as you reinstate your consciousness within and around and through your energy system, your locality, what we think of as the physical lifeform.

We will gather again when you are ready to receive and step into this flowingness coming through the Omega Communications Portal.

Thank you.

Lani
