“In communicating with you as the collective consciousness but using this one voice, we have drawn you into this deeper state of your own consciousness.

This is what you truly are. You are as one in this field that you have been drawn into in this gathering space and as such you are regenerating many of the avenues of your personal communication pathways and units and devices within your own system. The system we refer to is your own energy field, including an encompassing and throughout your energy field known as your physical unit. So, you see, it is part of your essential inner knowing that you are drawn into connecting into the quasmic consciousness field.

It serves to reconnect you again in a more powerful way than perhaps when you do it singly, it serves to increase and amplify the energy frequency that you are able to absorb.

In stepping beyond the activities of the physical form, you are more open to receive and interact with the quasmic field in the consciousness state – the intelligent systems of what life is and the original creative intention.

This may give rise to you opportunities to express yourself in a more simple and yet different and deeper way as you communicate with other people in your lifetime and your lifestyle. Therefore, you are communicating from the depth of the cosmic intelligent system.

The effect of this is stimulating in other people their receptivity and interaction with the greater quasmic field of energy and information.

This is one of the intentions that you, your prime energy self, chose to bring into the current life circumstances where you are and thus you are doing it. As you continue to more deeply interact with the quasmic intelligent field, then you find that there is a more settling and balancing state in your own existence and more than that, it becomes more creative in whatever way that it was designed in your personal introduction into the lifespan.

This introduction to the lifespan – using these words to help you understand what follows – is part of the ongoing increasing and expansion of your personal consciousness field. This is indeed indicating that the more that you connect with the quasmic intelligent field, this means you are more consciously present within and throughout your entire life cycle and all the systems of your current physicality.

It means, every time you connect more deeply into the true source of intelligent information you are increasing your presence as a quantum intelligent being and this intelligence is from the quasmic source – the creative, the one creative source. We are not speaking about what has been developed and introduced, whether that came from your current dimension or a greater dimension of existence. We are speaking truly about your original point of existence and the point of your existence, you see. You become a greater presence simply by absorbing and expanding into the quasmic intelligent field.

This is the supportive field spoken about to you many times and it is the quantum intelligent system for the original design for life on this planet form. As various cycles have continued to progress within and around this individual life planet, then you see there are introduced more energy systems and the energy systems we refer to are coming through the individualized concept of the original concept of what life could be and is designed to be, to uphold, to support every living aspect that comprises life on this planetoid sphere.

Be fully present.
Original Code

Hello again. Lani speaking and bringing you into the awareness of gathering together as part of the collective consciousness. Not the collective unconscious that people exist in, in their daily activities, but in the greater quasmic collective consciousness field – the creative system that is life.

These words have served to connect us into the one field of creative intelligence and we move together into that area of the Station of Light. You are light. You are a station of light in your life, but in this instance we gather in one space to receive. Thank you.

You see, you are contributing to this. The more that you move into realizing your quantumness, this is how you are facilitating the upliftment and improvement within the entire ecosystem upon this planetary system.

This of course includes the upliftment, the energizing, the regeneration of systems that relate to the original encoded pattern for the lifeform you have. It is inbuilt in the energetic structure within the creation and the ongoing creation of your lifeform.

In this sense you may consider that your current lifeform is really only just beginning to be fully alive, fully aligned and receiving the ongoing energy that is necessary for the sustenance of it and the expansion of the entire consciousness that you are. This is what it is all about.

Consequently, you will be observing there is a more deeper sorting out of old programs that had been instigated, introduced and carried forward through other civilizations and which continue to be utilized and amplified. The more that you exist within your pure intelligence, then you become more aware of the introduced systems that were intended to control and limit the expansion of consciousness and therefore that limits the expansion of consciousness of the entire planetoid system and the inhabitants. Therefore, continue your connection to the pure original state of your creation and this contains that unique code for you, but the unique code is based upon the original intention for the humanoid form.

As you accept that, you are adapting more to the activity and the unfoldment of that original true code. It increases the vitality systems and there are many such systems that are necessary in your lifeform. Then you will continue to interact in that interdimensional quasmic intelligent system of all life beyond this planetoid sphere that you are existing on.

You are continuously receiving the quantum intelligent field from the pure creation. You may become more aware of this. You may receive signs and information in the many ways that you as an individual will receive and interpret it. It is all part of the successful integration of you consciously interacting with the pure quasmic intelligent system of life.

This is all that needs to be conveyed to you in this communication.”

Lani speaking again and bringing to a close this particular communication and inspiration again for us to continue our conscious connection into that quantum intelligent field.

Take the inspiration into you. Remember it is amplifying and unfolding the original coded system.

Many of us have been aware we have not been fully active or even fully present here so that we could present our quasmic intelligence into the lifestream we are living. Now we are more aware of that so we are more active in the co-creation.

Does this mean you are the designer of your life? Do you realise that? We are told that by many different presenters, aren't we?

Bring all this back presenting it into and through your lifeform, allowing it to be fully present and bring yourself consciously back into the present moment as we know what that is in relation to the time experience here.

Thank you. This ends this presentation through the Omega Communications Portal.
