“Welcome. You have entered this energy field known as the collective consciousness and your consciousness, the true essence of you, recognizes this field and instantly communicates in many different ways that you receive and sense and participate in the expanding field that you call your expansion of consciousness.

It is expanding your consciousness into the greater, the quasmic field of energy and information. Therefore, when you are seeking answers to a question or when you are seeking anything at all that would benefit you and benefit the establishment of the greater, shall we say, colonization of the Earth planet in the more pure design, then you put the thought out, you move yourself into the quasmic collective consciousness field and the revelation will come to you.

It is you opening to receive what is being revealed in the quasmic field in answer to a specific query or a need or to facilitate some activity that you are wanting to participate in the overall design system.

This is the opening address to you. You are drawing this into you. This is you participating in this collective consciousness field.

You know we do not move into any cross purposes, any antagonistic reactive responses. We simply deliver what is appropriate for you and you deliver yourself, you present yourself, into the greater quantum field.

We acknowledge you.

We see you in the brilliance of your life form and the life form we refer to is the energy frequency pattern that has emerged, has revealed itself in an ongoing way in response to the original design, the blueprint and so this is how you were formed.

You move beyond the knowledge that has been portrayed that you are formed from two cells merging. You are actually formed from a very high design system and we remind you of this, to keep you focused within that quasmic intelligent design.

This is in many ways holding a powerful vibration around you and it is drawing that powerful resonating vibration with the original design all around the planet. You probably are aware where it is needed as there seems to be some divergence or falling apart, some dissatisfaction in many places, some great shift and movement within the earth structure itself.

You see, coming into this clear space and as you are receiving this and are immersed in this collective conscious state, you are within a very balanced and calm state. This has an effect throughout your systems. You may recognize where it has been needed throughout this life journey that you are experiencing currently and everything that needs to be shifted, completed, unfolded, upgraded into the quasmic intelligent design is open to you.

You are receiving it when you move into connecting with that quasmic intelligent field. Do this. Use it.

This is the information frequency pattern for you in this deliverance.

You are representing you – that which you recognize as your physicality. You are recognizing the influence that had been upon the physicality and you are also recognizing now the original design.

From an intelligent design system

Hello, Lani with you again. A special greeting and welcome as we move into the quasmic field – energy and information. This exists around us and as we become more aware of it, it becomes more active around us, in us and through us.

The gathering together to receive in this way is an additional tool for you to use. I am not saying it is the only way, but it is offered as a portal, a gateway for you to access the original pure design for you, for everyone, for all existence.

This is the way we begin today.

Carry this forward as it carries you forward into this collective consciousness state.

This is where you are and this was our presentation.”

Lani speaking again. We will be processing this, won't we? We will be using it. I will be using the encouragement to move into receiving that field that always feels very close around me and yet I have to access it consciously.

This perhaps is just where I am at in my connection to the collective consciousness and it makes it easier for me to do that when I open to allow the information to come through.

Take it all into you in whatever circumstances you are in and even in your most happiest moments that can still be expanded upon and you move into that state of the original intelligent creation.

This is all that is coming through today and this ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal.

Do bring it all back around you and through you. Perhaps you feel you have moved into a different field, so you may feel you have lost track of time – as we use those words – you may feel as you look around you now that you are back in your body that something has changed. This is the effect that you recognize – the result of you moving into the quasmic intelligent field.

This is today's session. Thank you.
