“ enriched with the vital essence that accompanies the energy frequency pattern that we, the collective consciousness surround you with.

We are of that, we are within that, you are of that, you are within that.

We are simply expressing the energy frequency that is able to assist you in the ways that you would be needing it.

It is always a refresher – refreshing you as you come into the quantum field. The quantum field is a bio-matrix information system.

As you connect your energy information system which is present here because you are present here in your lifeform – your body life essence – this is able to expand more into that quantumness of you – the bioenergetic energy streams and functions.

There has been a fluctuation in the incoming flow of energy that you take in to be infused by. We say this because there is a natural attraction and resonating effect of your light life form with the energy infusion patterns coming through the solar focus. It is the central focus.

You might say it's the central pathway and it connects with your energy receptors around your upper body part, your head actually, around the receiving energy system around the glands within the central brain system. It is all connected and it is always needed to be connected. That part of your energy receiving system within the brain network needs to be connected constantly to receive the information flows from the solar portal, emanating through it.

It is the quasmic intelligent system for your biological energy system as well as your vital essence, recharging your energy life system from the point of your creation. As you take in this, there is a stabilizing effect occurring.

The energy you have been receiving has been very powerful in the current formation that Earth has turned itself into, to itself receive the pure energetic signals and the incoming infusion through the solar portal.

Information has been coming to you in many different ways regarding this situation.

Earth has now aligned itself into the position where it is easily adapting to and receiving the cosmic rays. This is stimulating some of the depressed activities and processes that remain seemingly dormant within the consciousness field of the Earth structure itself. There will be rising up, appearing and being identified, different creations that may be measured in time measurement as many millennia ago (in your languages) of civilization.

There are remnants left. There are energy pockets retained from every civilization and they are retained within the consciousness field of the planetoid system itself, within its structure, within layers of its energy field.

This is why many of these are surfacing because the energy field of the Earth structure itself is being raised, it is being cleared of inhibiting factors. Again, some of the inhibiting factors have been in the outer atmosphere and in the atmosphere around the Earth that now has been received and has had been implanted in it many technological systems. Earth was needing to be re-oriented into the clear connection again through the quasmic field energy system. This has happened.

Earth and You - aligned, cleared Sub-atomic field

Hello. Lani speaking with you again, inviting you to be within your inner space and connecting with myself and others in my inner space and my inner space expands into the quantum field of consciousness and you are within that quantum field of consciousness.

So here we are, together in the quantum field of consciousness and we automatically synchronize our energy patterns with the receiving state within the Station of Light of the collective consciousness.

Allow yourself to open to the frequency pattern beyond my voice and so as we open to the energy pattern it becomes a quality of life – an enrichment of life ~

Many of you are also in this same process. May not have realised it. You see, this voice we are utilizing also needed to be recalibrated and tuned into the cosmic quantumness of the lifeform. It was there but had become inactive. Now there has been the reconnection into the nexus point which correctly connects it into the quantum field of the pure design.

Any disturbance you have been experiencing currently is the result of being slightly out of synchronization with the quasmic intelligent design field and this session will serve to re-align you and reconnect you again. Remember this. It is part of your essential light and life form and existence, always, every will be and is.

This is reminding you and this is also reconnecting you into that origination and state and field.

This is all that is needed to come through to you in this session. It will unfold you again and the vitalization as was described as vitalizing some of the hidden elements within the Earth structure, a similar process is occurring in your natural biodynamic systems that you recognize as your body form and your energy form and your emotional and your mental forms. It all one in the quasmic structure.

We leave this with you to absorb, to integrate, to realize in many different ways.”

This is Lani speaking again, reconnecting into our field again and I am feeling what they are describing – reconnecting into the necessary elements and components.

During this session I was glimpsing, seeing, I was understanding how we see a molecule, an atom, surrounded by information fields. So, we are receiving on a sub-atomic level the energy frequency,

That is a very deep level of connection and yet it is so deep that it is “out there” in our complete energy system. Difficult to describe in the language that I use.

So please have a sense of what is being described – that it is the quasmic field which this subatomic field exists within. That helps us to understand it.

We have been working with the quasmic field. Now we know it incorporates the subatomic field.

More to explore. More to unfold. More to enjoy and accept.

For myself I feel it rectifies some patterns that had become weak or disconnected in some way.

Again, it is my journey as well as your journey as I participate in bringing these energy sessions to you. Thank you for receiving them.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal. Remember your vitality. It is of the quasmic intelligent design.

Thank you.

Lani
