Distractions from Reality. False or Real. Be Intelligently Aware

Lani speaking, bringing to you these Omega transmissions. As usual, it is up to us to withdraw our senses from the external world around you and to focus entirely on your own energy light system. This is you. This is always you. This is the You that came in to utilize this body and maybe to form this body and to keep it connected into the prime central intelligent system of all life, in particular the life pattern that you bring in when you bring in the light in your unique way.

Having reminded you of this, come with me and be in the collective receiving state within the Station of Light, this beautiful state of existence that is in a multi dimensional existence. It seems to be more easily accessible by us when we connect in as a group and this is what we are doing today.

“You are always welcomed and greeted into this space and we who are speaking represent your entirety as a light energy existence in a formation and you are part of this.

Now, as we continue with the integration of you into the realization again of this energy system – the totality of it for you – this is how you manage perhaps symptoms that arise within and around you as an individual body-mind Being and in the locality around you. You are creating the exact frequency pattern that will uplift you and keep you connecting into the prime frequency design pattern.

This always is given to you as a reminder because we understand that as you pass through the energy systems into the physical locality and you are working in a very physical way to maintain energy systems and create new energy systems wherever you are existing, then it is, in a sense, separating you from the fulness of the prime design system. This is why the reminder is given to you to reconnect.

You will find the correct pattern of words or phrases that you will utilize, that you already utilize, to enter this consistent state of prime intelligent design system.

There is stabilization needed, as you are aware, because of the changing magnetic and energetic systems throughout the Earth station and throughout the surrounding energy field around planetoid Earth and around different aspects of the system that you are connected into revolving around the central solar portal.

There are shiftings. There are changes. There is the appearance of other presences coming to mind and there is conjecture about these and there is also false information about what is appearing.

The further that you connect into your central intelligence system gives rise to a true pattern of awareness for you, how it relates to you where you exist, how you understand where you belong. That of course is a longing to be existing and coexisting within the prime central intelligent design of life.

This is your focus and it is through this that you access the specific elements, energy elements, needed for you. You are easily contaminated – not all of you – but some of you are contaminated or distracted into what is presented to you the most, what you see around you the most and is that the true reality for you as a pre-existing energy information system yourself.

You bring these energy information systems into your body intelligent systems. There is always the connection needed, the interface needed, to allow the clear energy to come in and to remove, dissolving any accumulations that distort your view or distort the deep well of functioning – the deep inner light source.

You are reconnecting with that, as always, now.

We have you understand that there is a system within the conscious intelligent matrix surrounding you all which is bringing opportunities for seeing what is false and what is real and what is technically created to confuse and to limit you.

So, when you realise that the pure intelligent matrix field – this is the quasmic matrix field – surrounding you right from the very edge of your expanded field of consciousness where you interface with it - and then you bring in that quasmic matrix field deeply in around your physical senses and the physical energy body system – this is what is correcting misplaced or disturbed energy systems within your energy framework and around the energy framework in the atmosphere, in the waters, in the pattern that is giving an exchange – a powerful exchange – of energy frequency which is turbulence, in your phrase.

This will settle and you will settle and be more comfortable because you are focusing on the central intelligent system from deep within the centre of that, deep within the centre of you, connected deeply into the centre of the creative life supporting system.

It is all about being intelligently aware.

This is what we came forward to tell you in this session to help clear, to help you realise, to help you understand and so you have now connected deeply and fully to this clearness for you in every way.

Be aware that these words, as they are spoken directly to you as an individual, will also be touching everyone you have a connection with. This is how the quasmic matrix field of consciousness works. It is active. You have activated it simply by being aware of it and aware that you are participating in this clear pattern ready for the higher intelligently connected system of civilization.

Many of you came though into this current body form expecting you to already be stepping into that highly intelligent world based on the true organic system of the pure design – expecting it to already have been manifested, but you are the ones doing the work to manifest it, to bring it into realizing that it is around you. It is you.

This is what you needed to hear in this session.

We commend you. We do not command you.

We support you in your journey through consciousness.”

Thank you. This is Lani speaking again.

A brilliant design. It seems we have been reminded we are a brilliant design and we are utilizing it

There will be many ways that each of us will use this deeper realization and connection with the pure intelligent design. It is so lovely.

Thank you for being here. Now bring yourself fully and deeply connecting into your body form and the body intelligence system. This is where you are active. This is why you are needing to hear this information energy system through the words.

This is all that was to be presented through this session and this ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal.

Be fully aware and alert. Thank you.

Lani
