“Welcome. In this collective field of consciousness that you exist within, there are endless potential and possibilities and yet there are particular potential and possibilities unique to you, unique to the pattern of your instrumental presentation of the expression of pure energy into the body form and into the civilization formation currently. It is all an energy system and there are the vital pieces – we could refer to you as a vital piece within the overall matrix of the quasmic energy field.

You are participating and you are contributing in many different ways, more than you perhaps acknowledge and realise. The more that you open to receive the quantumness of self, then you understand the importance of being consciously present in the quasmic energy matrix and in that which is called the matrix of consciousness of the planet, of the civilization, of you, of the collectiveness of the pure energy design. The creative design field.

When we speak about it as a field, it is simply to assist you to recognize there are no lines of demarcation, it is not limited in any way by definition. We say again, as we have said to you many times, dimensions are a flowing field of existence. There are no limits. There are no definitions that define it. It is an all encompassing quasmic field.

As you understand this, you begin to see more clearly your place as you are placed in the existence currently.

You may have brought in a collective field of, shall we say, useful tools to help you to stabilize all conditions throughout you and around you and in so doing you are more open and expanded to revitalize yourself in every way, to revitalize what you eat, to revitalize what you see around you. There is the continuous flow from the plant life, the light, the waters.

Again, it is one system and you are perfectly placed to create the perfect civilization in accordance with the perfect original design pattern.

There are no flaws in the original design process and pattern. It is complete. What is happening is you are expanding yourself and allowing yourself to expand further into that perfect design pattern and placement.

We talk about placement in this sense as placing yourself into the correct nexus point for you. The connecting point in all of this and the point of these sessions is to assist you to realise you are unique and you have your unique connecting point and pattern and it is all within the quasmic design field – that creative field, indeed.

As we say, this could be all that is needed for you to hear in this session in this gathering space in this collective field.

There is always more to unfold and to express around you. Even breathing in what you have received in this moment allows you to raise yourself, your consciousness field and it is like an imprint that you have. Your presence here is an imprint and you are receiving the imprint of the unfolding energy field of that perfect design pattern.

It was already imprinted within your consciousness before you entered the design field within the Earth field and consciousness.

Session: 1304
Earth Date: November 27, 2025, Thursday

Imprint of the Perfect Design Pattern

Hello, Lani with you again. Are you with me in mind and in spirit and in the collective consciousness field – in that quasmic energy field? It is all around us, always has been and always will be.

So, allow yourself again to open to receive what is required by you. Things you may not understand, things you may not know that you even need.

As we begin this session, allow yourself to be open to receive, looking forward with curiosity and perhaps excitement. This is how we begin this session today.

We acknowledge there are those of you receiving this session who have also received an imprint from other, we will say as an example, destinations, where there are other patterns of you co-existing. We acknowledge that.

You are not limited simply to what you know as your Earth planetoid station. What you are receiving consciously now because you are receiving it as part of the consciousness of the Earth planetoid station, what you are receiving now is also being received wherever you exist.

This is the openness. This is the collective consciousness field.

Remember always to place yourself within that connecting point. You know it. You feel it. It is that which we have referred to as your point of origin and that has no particular label upon it and it is a perfect phrase because you get the sense of what we are bringing to you and it is not defined. It is the open expression within the perfect design pattern in the field.

This is a reminder again to you, to assist you to gather yourself – your true energy self that exists within and through the physical unit and it is part of your physicality. This is the way that we are assisting you to receive more and to step out more into the quasmic field of existence.

Are you experiencing this? We have enfolded you in this, so there needs to be relaxation within you to allow this to be fully remembered. It is part of your initial immersion into what you would call a physical state and unit appropriate to whatever planetoid system. Here you are.

This was our deliverance to you in this session. We observe you. We are indeed with you in the quasmic collective consciousness.”

Lani present again.

Thank you, all the Beings, all the Consciousness involved in this session – thank you.

Do let me know the difference it makes to you, because then you are acknowledging how you are transitioning into the perfect design system.

Now, as you allow yourself to absorb this, bring your attention and focus fully back into your physicality – the current dimensional existence you are experiencing – filled with more, shall we simply say – light. And so it is.

As you focus back in, simply take in a conscious breath and as you let it out, here you are again.

This is the session today and it ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal today.

Thanks for your presence and presentation of your true essence into this system of life.

Thank you.

Lani
