A new start. Equation of Creation

Hello and Welcome.

Lani speaking to you again on the first day of the calendar year 2026. How do you view this day? How do you view your life? How do you view numbers or other patterns that you see happening in your life?

Are you aware that you are entering a bigger, conscious network – a quantum field? This is what you and we are doing. We are entering a quantum cosmic / quasmic field of energy and information and that is what we are. Our consciousness is that. So, now we consciously reconnect into that greater expanded all-knowing – its actually the greater design of life, I feel.

We gather together again in a receiving state and space in that area defined as the Station of Light.

Are you ready? Let us begin.

“Already you have enveloped yourself within the constant stream of energy and information which is available to you within this collective space. So, as we address you, we are continuously enveloping you in this field which is very familiar to you.

It is your natural state of consciousness itself. In this sense, we are all of and as the quasmic collective consciousness.

You are, by your intention, bringing into your life pattern and the life pattern where you are existing currently in multi-dimensions, of course, but in your physical personal location you are already bringing in more details from that composite collective consciousness field.

There are actualities to be realised presented within that field which is a creative field. Therefore, as you release layers that have been around you that have been in a sense directing your life by processes, by what has been thrust upon you in other words and deliverances which have all been an engineered scenario to keep you feeling that you are less than anything else, that you are separate from the quasmic field of consciousness.

So, now that you are releasing those containments, you are bringing in the wider field to connect you always into that space and state. It automatically realigns you if you are out of alignment with the quasmic field.

It automatically corrects many of the processes and sub-processes which may have come out of alignment with the pure original creative design.

This is likened to a new start. Everything is fresh and open to you in this collective consciousness state.

You are accessing the information from beyond the constructed thought field which surrounds your planet and in so doing, you have been limited by what was contained within that thought field. When you realise that, you have automatically stepped beyond that; you have gone through the portal through the energy system which brings you into the clearer connection to creativity again – the pure original design system for you to bring back with you into your living space.

Your living space currently is the planetoid labelled Earth, or Gaia, or whatever other label has been put upon it. The land mass, the consciousness, the living consciousness that is known as the planet form. It is not solid. You are not a solid body form. You are consciousness creating and recreating the body form.

This is the same message delivered to you in many different ways throughout many streams of energy and information that you bring into your life pattern. Have you realized that?

This is why we connect with you in this way to bring you into the quantum field of a continuation of expansion, of joyful creativeness and experiences that are joyful. They are filled with the energy information system of the pure design - intelligent design and this is the order that we talk about. It is an equation of creation.

You will be processing this. There is energy surrounding it and you, naturally in your greater consciousness field understand it and you draw it within you, upon you, through you.

You are making a difference wherever you are presently located, simply by being consciously present, that you are a quasmic intelligent Being.

This is what you needed to hear for this presentation.

Again, you are welcomed into the life which you are cocreating in accordance with the quasmic intelligent design system. We acknowledge that.:

Thank you. This is Lani speaking again, bringing us back into realizing the humanness of the physical body, the physicality – the location of where you are – constantly surrounded in that quasmic intelligent field.

It feels stronger. We have been receiving more powerful inflows of energy coming through the sun and this is enlivening us, enriching us, as much as we allow that to happen and to assist us with new creations.

We leave this with you and we leave it with you to bring into your placement in this life.

Thanks for tuning in, everyone, and I look forward to bringing through another session as we continue this journey of consciousness.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal.

Do you consciously create? Do you visualize and see the beautiful creations around you, for you, for others? This is utilizing that quasmic creative essence of your consciousness.

(This is just a parting thought from me! Thank you.)

Lani
