What do you know?
What is your reality?

I am Lani presenting these sessions to you. Another opportunity to withdraw from your daily activities and to enter purely into the state of your consciousness – your consciousness – super consciousness – your quantum consciousness – which is connected to the entire creative energy matrix of creation! in other words, this is an opportunity again to open completely to be in that quasmic field energy and information for you.

Have you been feeling divided? Unsure about something? Very strongly focused in the physical world of what you see and hear presented to you – and then do you switch off and move into this contemplative state – the reception of your quantum self energy and information?

These sessions help you to move more strongly into that quantum field and we do this by knowing that as a collective group the strength of our linkup in the quantum field is stronger. To make it more stronger we can assemble in the receiving state of what is known as the Station of Light.

This may be physical – have you seen it? Or it may be metaphysical and simply in a dimension that we don't normally see with our physical eyes. It is that difference – division between what you see and what you know.

We have moved into this all-knowing space to begin this session today.

“You are open to receive and as such, the collective consciousness which we are using words to explain to you – we are with you – and as you realise this, do you feel the expansion within you?

Even here in your light energy field of consciousness you are aware of an expansion. The sensation gives rise to an automatic response within your physicality situation and this is allowing the greater sense of oneness, of being an aspect of the quasmic field consciousness to be more strongly active within you and through you.

There are certain activities of the mind power, the presence and the knowing of the mind, which responds to the quantum field of your consciousness and this is the way that you are able to absorb in the multi dimensional field that exists as you – you are able to absorb the frequencies and it is all about maintaining a high state of activity and wellness, you might say, within your physicality situation.

There have been of course, as you are aware, some diversions from the natural state that you call your health and the diversions have also been limiting you from being aware of the quantumness of you. This is what we are doing – we are assisting you to absorb the quantumness of your life, of what is, the capacity you have to evolve and to continue evolving and clearing older energy information system patterns that had been around you.

In this way this might be what has been referred to by others as ascension and the information necessary for this to happen must come initially from your own connection to the quasmic field of energy and information – from that which you were created from – from that which you created yourself and you entered this space.

In the multi-dimensional field you know this, so this is simply you harnessing that knowledge within your individuality situation.

We start with this always, as a reminder to bring you into the correct connection and in this way you are correcting anomalies, diversions, disturbances in the overall consciousness-scape that you call your planet, that you might call your solar system.

You have an influence upon everything and as such, you can be influenced by everything that is around you – except when you consciously connect to the quasmic intelligent system – the original design system – you reach into this pure constant energy field that is there and you draw in the environment into you and around you of harnessing the energy systems that are natural and that are needed in the bringing higher order and balance into the systems within you and within that which you are functioning and existing within this planetary dimension.

So, you may view what you see or what you are experiencing in your current physicality situation and are you remaining in the still powerful centre – the powerful connection – to the quasmic intelligent field or are you caught up in the emotional and dysfunctional system? As you do that – as you view where you are – you may be questioning what is real and this comes back to the fundamental system that you are as a quasmic consciousness system. That is real.

This is what you are making real. It is the reality. Therefore, you move throughout your daily functions in a different state of consciousness.

Make this real – this quasmic consciousness that is you. It is the real you and you have come to realise that – and a reminder again to consciously connect to that original design pattern. The quasmic design of life.”

Lani speaking again and the collective consciousness recede so that you are able to absorb and utilize the energy as a transition in your life in some way.

Changing the reality. Changing what you feel and know is reality.

It is all you. Perhaps you presented this to yourself at this point where you may have been questioning what is real.

Make this quantum leap into the reality and make it the way that you are living, bringing quasmic intelligence into the systems that we think of as your body-mind situation and the locality where you are situated right now.

Breathe it into you. Bring your focus and attention back into the method of time as we measure it, the years as we acknowledge them and use the measurement.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal. Thank you for being here and receiving this.
