Dreams. Creations Extinguished? Use the Energy

Hello, Lani welcoming you again into this space, meeting together as if we are in a group space – a group gathering. It is here that you are able to enter the pure stillness of your own life essence, your own spirit, your own body of light and allow all the outside circumstances and experiences to recede into the background so that you – the higher consciousness of you – can enter the dimensional space together as a group within the Station of Light.

This exists in a dimensional existence. Perhaps when we raise our frequency enough, we will experience it as being within a physical space.

Today you are here in your dimensional body – higher dimensional body – in this body of existence known as the Station of Light.

Everything is possible. The potential you have is what you draw upon.

This is how we begin this session today.

“Within this existence you are present with us as one of this collective consciousness. We remind you of this.

Within this field of collective consciousness there is the natural formation and information that is required for you. In a sense you have created this space to access more easily, freely and readily the patterns that you were bringing into your life span – the current lifespan we refer to. So, just as we recognize you as a formation of consciousness, which is a bright light, you will recognize us as a formation of consciousness.

We have gone beyond presenting ourselves as individualized named personalities or individualities because we are drawing upon the collective consciousness of everything that is of the pure design, the creative life force.

Presenting yourself into this means you are accessing again the potential and the creative liveliness, the information, the creation patterns for you to bring in around you and into the materialization of the higher frequency pattern around where you are living, around where your personal physical body is located.

We do not override the sense of you being an individualized Being, that is important because this is the way that you present the creative life force into what is around you and which you are continuously creating.

Do you see you now need to choose what you wish to create and what you connect into that is presented to you in the circumstances around the planetary system. We are referring not purely to the planet you are on, but to the planetary system of creation. A formation of connected dimensions coexisting with you. As you widen your consciousness field and your sense of receptivity, you become aware that there are streams of information you are receiving and you respond to in various ways.

There are those of you who will focus on memories of what you experience when you go into states of consciousness that you call sleep. These are an assembly of possibilities, of perhaps introducing and understanding patterns that you have been experiencing. Whereas, entering this state of consciousness here you are bringing in the new clarification of energy frequency patterns for you.

The purpose of this and the intention, your intention and the intention of the collective consciousness, is to uphold the pure design system that you are modelled upon.

You came from a particular model and this in a sense contained everything that is needed to sustain and maintain your physicality and this can override or dissolve incompatible frequency patterns you may have experienced in this moment of coming together in this dimensional field here.

This is the coming together, the joining, the conjunction, of many dimensional experiences we have had. This gives you a greater sense of order and balance and being correctly attuned to one source of energy and information. You are always connected to that. You have your own individual connection to the pure intelligent creative source energy frequency pattern. We always remind you of this.

You will know that many new creations or inventions or ways of utilizing natural power arise and they appear to be extinguished – the ideas, the concepts, the people – appear to be extinguished. In one sense those people who held that ideal and the possibility and the new program still exist in the collective consciousness field. Therefore, you are able to tap into those creations in your individual way.

You may realize from this that you have opened the pure connection you have to the intelligent field of creation – not the intelligent field of humanity. That is limited. You are reminded to go to the original pure source of creation.

This is a familiar information pattern to all of you and it is the sense of beautification that you will be realizing – a sense of full support because you are designed to be in that field of full support. This is active in all areas of your consciousness.

This is what we are assisting you to remember – the possibility to draw upon. Use it. You may be already using that field of energy to make corrections throughout you, throughout your life pattern, correcting events or experiences that you may think of were in the past of this current lifetime or elsewhere.

This is the lifetime you are focused within to clear other patterns, so these are referred to as some of the pathways that you are continuing to clear.

From your central intelligence present here receiving this you are already doing this in a very natural way that occurs when you place yourself within this pure dimensional frequency field.

This is not simply for your individual purposes. When you utilize that energy is a self-correction process it is adjusting and correcting the pathways you connect with in the quantum field, you might say the interstellar quasmic field of creation that is. You are important in this connected field of consciousness.

This is the deliverance to you today.”

This symbol =

Consciousness rising to Quasmic
Consciousness – energy flowing through all dimensions.

Lani speaking again. There is a sense of withdrawing from the Station of Light field of existence, coming back to remembering you are bringing this expanded understanding and realization again deeply within your own energy field. The energy field that exists all around you and within you.

This is the inspiration again, infusing you today and in ongoing days and each time you tune into this session again and receive it, there is a new pattern emerging within you as the pureness of the pure order of creation.

Enjoy this! I enjoy bringing these sessions to you and now that you are fully back within your physical body, become aware of the time and if you go to sleep listening to this, when you awaken be aware of the current time. This allows you to bring the greater frequency into time as we measure it.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal and what you have received in this session is with you, it is now part of you. Remember that. Know it. Thank you.
