Prime Objective of Life. Design your Life. Intelligent System

Lani speaking and Welcome to this meeting space – a space to meet you and greet you and encourage you to take this time out from Earth space time and activity and move deeply into the central core essence of you. This is the light centre of you – the central light - and as this you connect with the people around the planet and perhaps beyond the planet in different dimensions who have the intention of coming together in a higher dimensional frequency pattern.

As you do this we are automatically gathering together in the Staton of Light,

This is like an interface space where you connect your higher level of consciousness and your body-mind consciousness that comes in as part of the central intelligence system of you and you connect with the quasmic field of collective consciousness. This is a place of expansion, of joy, of upliftment and of being within a group of Beings – the collective consciousness – who are focused on assisting every one of you to step out of the conditions wherever you are existing and into the prime intelligent system of creation. This is how we begin today in this space.

“Indeed. We acknowledge you as your presence in this collective group and as such, our intention is indeed to help you expand your consciousness into the already established connected physical vibration. We speak of it as a physical vibration. It is an energy field that you resonate with that exists always.

Presenting yourself into this gathering you are reminding yourself that this is what you connect with every time you connect consciously to your original point of existence – your point of origin. It is a frequency. As you move into this, you are receiving frequency patterns that bring you into the highest condition of the prime order of creation.

This is the pure design system for you.

This is the design system for the actual functioning of the body and remember, your body does not have a time limit on it. That was implanted as a restriction within the mind patterns of human beings. You are beyond that as you link more clearly into your pure point of origin and this energy field is an interface here with that.

It is clear. There are no disturbances in this quasmic field of consciousness and you have arrived here again to renew yourself. This is a reminder that it is and could be and should be a physical daily activity to return to connect into your point of origin for refreshment in every way. It is an intelligent source, energy and information in every way for you.

This is all that is required. It, in a sense, enables you to be free to design your life to incorporate into your life the pattern of, you could say, from advanced civilization, advanced galactic civilization. It is a natural quasmic field available to you all, so accessing it you then are enabling yourself to use it as creation, as restorative, regeneration, in many ways in your life pattern.

Take this into you. This is the prime objective of bringing you into this space.

From this positioning and quasmic connection you are enabling a shift in consciousness around your living space and we refer to this as the conscious Being that you know as your planet. The shifting is enabling the planetary consciousness to absorb more of the true light frequency, to bring it into alignment and positioning.

You may not know that Earth had shifted out of its natural positioning through other circumstances and now it is coming back into the complete highest condition and order and functioning and placement within the quasmic field.

This can shift energy systems that are volatile around and throughout the Earth planet currently. That is the ideal - the prime design. It is the prime design of you as a functioning, intelligent energy system to take part in this realignment and connecting into the prime directive of enabling life sustaining energy systems to be incorporated within the consciousness field of all existing humans.

There have been missing elements. There had been the missing connection. You have already made your true connection because you have recognized you needed to step back and access the original purpose of your life system. Some may say it is to solve problems, correct or balance problems and situations but that is only a component and a result of you reconnecting to the prime intelligent system of life.

Incorporate this in every sense of your life. You have this natural in-born system to access this pure point of origin. Be within this. Recognize it.

This was what you drew into you to receive in this presentation and gathering.”

Lani speaking again and I acknowledge this presentation of us and to us and our natural absorption of the energy field. The prime intelligent system.

As you acknowledge that and you become aware that you are filled with that system of energy, be aware that this is all around you as you are receiving this energy information session. You have gathered in the energy pattern required.

Now it is required of you to bring your attention and focus back into where you are presenting this in your life pattern, in this present moment of time, so become aware of the day and the time now that you have come back into the body system. It has been primed again. Reactivated, restarted with the original pure design system of life.

Enjoy this. Enjoy who you are as this system of light – consciousness – and this is it.

Thanks for receiving this and this ends this session through the Omega Communications portal.
