Essential Systems Upgrade

Hello, Lani speaking with you again and linking you in as part of this collective consciousness that we create as a group gathering together.

Are you settled? Are you comfortable where your body is so that you can spend time going more deeply within your true self, into the consciousness states that connect you readily with the greater collective consciousness as we know it? Where we gain insight, where we access the energy systems for rejuvenation or repair or inspiration in whatever way.

This is how we begin today, centering our attention, our focus, within the dimensional frequency pattern that we understand to be the Station of Light and all the collective consciousness that exists – and here we are – ready to begin.

“In being within this collective state of consciousness that you are familiar with - you enter this state of consciousness during your times of deep sleep. You may not remember that, but you will have glimpses perhaps of travelling, of communicating with other Beings, whether they would be familiar to you or whether they are those who are part of this collective consciousness stream waiting to support you, waiting for you to accept the support.

So, as you are part of this system that is known as the supportive system of the great design of creation, you already are harnessing the elements within you that recognizes and remembers how to access the energy information patterns.

The more that you do this then the more that it moves out through your energy field and the contacts that you have with other physical members present on the Earth-plane and in other dimensions that we call planets, that you might call galaxies, that you might call other nexus points in the creative matrix field. It is all connected.

Currently with the connections you are drawing into you there is a system balance. This is a systemic balance within you of any systems that needed to be coming together into moving forward in creation and creating elements that are required to sustain your body format.

The energy system surrounding you all on the planet is changing. The vibration is changing. Become aware of the higher light system that you are receiving, and this changes the systems within you, as it is designed to be.

You brought in with you into this physical body the receiving elements that are always there, always present, and designed specifically in this current influx within the nexus points of creation to accept and utilize the light patterns.

There has been a progressive shift into enabling the population on Earth and the Earth consciousness itself to be in this position of accepting the progression in the light field patterns. This is a simplistic way of presenting it to you. There are deeper ways of understanding it if you were in the scientific quantum physical realm and recognizing and using equations to describe what we are describing to you in the presentation of the words and the energy systems, the concept of it all, contained within the words and through the word patterns.

In this state of collective consciousness you receive more than simply words. You receive the fulness of the prime design, the original creative pattern. This, as you absorb it now, is creating balance. The balanced situation means that there are no disturbances that will draw you away from this central nexus of receiving the imprints and the energy patterns necessary,

It is an upgrade system. The upgrade system is inbuilt in your consciousness field – that state of existence from your original point of origin. The point of origin.

You have always carried this knowledge that there is the continuation of upgrade systems.

You see it reflected in technology where systems are upgraded, where everything is upgraded. This is the essential prime upgrade system you are immersed within during this session.

You are immersed within the nexus point that is the receiving point of the progressive upgrade patterns of the light system. Therefore there is no purpose in resisting specific changes unless you understand where those changes originate from. Yes, we do recognize there are originating changes not in conformity with the higher design system of creation. This is the progressive upgrade system and you are utilizing this, you are receiving it because you have connected daily and during this session to be part of this, you have connected to the point of origin and therefore you are receiving the system changes and upgrade.

Many of you have been waiting for this to happen and expecting it to happen and questioning why hasn't it happened. There are contributing factors drawn in through the nexus points, contributing to you accepting the fullness of this upgrade system.

Feel it. You are experiencing it in this deliverance. You will feel it lightening that presence of you here in this gathering system and you will feel it in the physicality aspect of you. Again, you will understand there will be changes in your thought patterns, changes in the emotional responses and changes in the cellular sequences – the processes. It is part of the upgrade system.

It is the basic design.
Know it. Accept it. Allow it to be.

This is the presentation to you in this collective gathering.”

Lani speaking again, feeling beautifully recharged and rejuvenated with this system upgrade.

It is interesting that we hear the same words in our general everyday living situations, but the prime source of it is this collective consciousness – the quantum field that is part of the upgrade – or that is the upgrade system that we understand and know exists.

This is exciting. It is exciting and activating the processes that will take in and utilize this upgrade light system. All patterns of it.

Feel it now deeply within your physicality systems. Take some moments during your days to feel it, respond to it, and understand the shift and changes.

This is the presentation during this session and this ends this session through Omega Communications.

Thank you for receiving this upgrade system and I thank, of course, the collective consciousness that brought this to our attention.
