Accepting the Upgrade in Evolution Non-physical body system

Lani speaking with you again. Hello and welcome into this space. This is a space that we have created together, because by your presence, and that is simply reading this, you are creating the unfolding story of your life essence, your life presence in this physical body. And, more than just within the physical body – your presence, your life essence, or you might say your original pure spirit – is also present and contributing. So, in this way we are gathering together as a bigger group, because we are conscious there is more than us as a human being present. Now we move into receiving and in receiving we are automatically connected into the collective consciousness existing in the Station of Light.

It is a place where we can assemble individually and collectively and, be open to receiving more clearly, energy and information. This is how we begin today.

“In presenting yourself into this area – this field of energy and information which we are enveloping you in and you are embracing it yourself through the collective consciousness and you are the collective consciousness yourself. You are presenting yourself into your physical framework that you know as your physical body, but it is you, the true essence of you from your point of origin, that is presenting yourself everywhere into dimensions of existence, into this field of collective consciousness.

You are bringing in information patterns that are necessary to receive the streams of energy and information. This, as we have said, is part of the upgrade system.

Many of you are asking how do we absorb the upgrade system to have a visible effect and physical effect in the body form. So, the information coming through in this session enables you to understand firstly there is the intention that you have and the intention arises from the pure energy essence of you, from your point of origin, that contains the information patterns that are ready to accept the streams of light energy information.

Therefore, with intention and you become aware of the intention as being a necessary part, you enter into an exchange within the physical cellular membranes within your body form.

The cells themselves are not defined in our conceptual presentation to you. The cells are defined, yes, physically by your Earth construction, but the cells that we refer to go into very deep structures, or assembly energy systems, deeply within every cellular process and in every presentation of what you would call a cell, a single cell. Likewise, you could be likened to being a single cell upon the group assembled around the planetary system receiving information patterns.

Bringing your attention back to the processes of the cell – inbuilt within the energy system of a cell is a receiver and the receiver is part of what was contained in the pure design system of you. The pure design system is the light energy functionality presentation to you and this was presenting itself into the body formation, so the necessary part of receiving the upgrade of the body situation allows the presentation of you and the energy systems you bring in to be continuing to present it into the Earth-plane. This presents it in the present moment of you now and this extends the body systems.

You would know about the evolutionary processes that are described and talked about within your civilization. Evolutionary processes are happening in this instant because you are accepting the light system and you are accepting it deeply within all processes that you would recognize as your physical lifestream. This is extending the physical body system which has built into the cellular processes the ways to absorb this. In one sense the body system and intelligence has been waiting for the presentation of this energy system. By your intention you are bringing this energy system known as the upgrade system, deeply within the physical housing system for the essence of you. You are creating this now.

You will have a memory that is built into all of you of processes of a physical type system which really is a non-physical type system and even now what you call your physical body is a non-physical body system. You have a memory of having a different type physical formation body to house the consciousness of the pure intelligent design of your pure point of origin. In many terms of history you might say you were etheric beings from different civilizations.

This is what you are, you see. Your entire body system exists as a non-physical body system, as a presence of light and information and we are reminding you of this. Do you remember this? Do you remember you have a sense of your body being non-physical? The non-physical aspect of you correlates and merges completely with the presentation of the pure element of design of the light system of you – the pure essence of you and it is orientated - it is aligned, connected - with the streams of the light system coming in. This is what we call the upgrade system.

Deep within the inter-dimensional cellular processes atomic, sub-atomic, what you might try and define it as, there is inbuilt receptivity for this light system. There can have been an opening in the systems within your cellular systems, the process that allowed other systems to come in, because your receivers were expectantly waiting to receive the light system and it got distracted or distorted.

Now the light system is being fully presented around you and through you and within you. Recognize this. Accept it. This is what you have been ready for and your continual presentation into the streams of the light system contained within the supportive collective consciousness – it is all designed as the necessary elements supporting you, allowing you to accept the pure streams of energy and information. It is a pure channel system. So when you actively engage that pure channel system which you have through your point of origin which exists through the nexus point and the main nexus point is the solar portal – so there is the direct alignment and channel receiving the inflow of the streams of light system that you are integrating already – known as the upgrade system. That is the simplistic way to describe it to you, because you understand what it means.

Your body, as you are receiving this in this presentation out of measurement of Earth time space, you are open to receive the fulness of this and this is part of the evolutionary process you are engaging. It does not need to take eons for an evolutionary process to manifest. You are in the midst of receiving this and establishing it directly within you, through you and around you. We are presenting this to you in the fulness of what we are speaking about and presenting to you in images. Take this into you. Absorb it now fully deeply within you.

This was your intention in bringing yourself into receiving sessions through this experience, experiencing yourself beyond any limit of time experience measurement. As you realise this and remember the true essence of you, you are creating the new system within you, even the new system within the physical body processes to take in this pure element of creation again – the fulness of it. This is happening. This is why you presented yourself into this presentation and you presented it to yourself. This is the information pattern through this session.”

Thank you. Lani speaking again, accepting this. It feels like an acceleration, an increase in what we are receiving, absorbing and utilizing, remembering we knew this would happen and remembering the process involved deeply within – they call it the cellular processes. This is exciting to remember and remember this has happened in this gathering out of Earth time measurement. You have been in the experience of it in the moment. Bring the experience of the energy system right back into you where you experience joyfully living your experience in this existence and yet you are not really of the Earth existence. You are bringing in the original intention for existence right down, grounding it, bringing it in, connecting it into the Earth energy system deeply within the earth central intelligence. This is you presenting this as an experience in what we call time and I think time is not fixed. It is a flowing of experience through dimensions of existence and you are changing the experience of time as you feel it through your experience. The major experience today has been receiving this intelligent system we call an upgrade.

It is time to end this session through Omega Communications and now be consciously aware of time as we measure it! Remember you are a true light being! A lovely image to end with! Thank you.

Lani
