Formation of Conscious Communities

Hello. Lani again with you, linking with you as one group, or perhaps you feel it is just you and me, one to one, communicating and receiving energy purely for you. Whatever way you consider we are connecting and how we are connecting, this is because we are connecting into the energy form and remember you are an energy form, more than just the physical form. So, it is the energy form, the pure essence of you, that gathers in the meetings we do together, drawing in from the greater network of consciousness that exists everywhere.

Remember, you are tuning into the network of consciousness that is beyond our physical connections. This is your nonphysical beingness I am referring to and this is you who comes easily into the meeting space with those of the great collective consciousness and beyond.

In this way we are receiving pure streams of energy and information. Streams and patterns of light for the processes you are engaged within.

And so we begin.

"We begin in this way with you drawing you into this collective field where we are easily able to access communication states with you and you are easily able to enter this communication field.

The field is a collection of the field of light, the energy impulses that are surrounding you all currently,

There is, has been and always will be increasing fields of light coming into you, pulsing you and as you respond, in your energy field, in your nonphysical body, this is that which absorbs the energy frequency for you.

The purpose of this is so that you maintain the integrity of your pure energy form, your light form, and thus you are maintaining the integrity and the substance of what you call your physical form which houses the true energy frequency of your nonphysical presence. Even though we call it a nonphysical presence, it is indeed present continuously through your life experiences.

So, already as we are bringing these energy words to you, you will be accepting and understanding and receiving. Remember, there are the natural receivers within every single energetic cell and which is the physical cellular network and flowing of energy connections throughout your system. We see this more in your nonphysical presence here and this is where you fully receive fields of information.

They come forth to you in a process perhaps you could call it packets of energy, spheres of energy, that will move directly and deeply into fields of consciousness that are you.

This is the way that evolutionary processes happen because of the expansion into fields of consciousness beyond what has been experienced previously. Expanding into more stronger light fields creates realities that are based upon higher frequencies of communities. This is the sense that many times people are trying to gain that sense of community in the physical living experiences and existences and yet, often times there is not the community sense of the energy formations to be brought in.

These are the systems that you are aware of and you are working with when you connect consciously within and to the nexus point of the prime creative system of creation. it is ongoing creation.

You realise there is ongoing creation all around you – in plant life, in creatures, in yourself in the constructions that are occurring. Look deeply into those until you feel the nonphysical presence and if you do not find the nonphysical presence of the greater conscious design system – the original pure design of creation – then this is an opportunity for you to align yourself more deeply into the prime design system which in turn allows that frequency to enter within the construction occurring that you might see physically which does not appear to conform and be in accordance with the pure design system of creative life force – from source energy, you would say. The original design system.

The original design system comes through into those creative people, the designers, the creators, who access the pure design system through their own pure connection to creative life source. There are many such creative inventors, perhaps you know of some, you have heard their history where perhaps they were quashed in their creations that would have benefited life systems for the awakened community intention of existence.

We are talking about moving beyond control systems. We are talking about the connection that you have to the pure intention for life. You have always known there was something better, there was improvement, there was a different way of existence. This truly is a reality and you are sensing this within the connections you are enveloping yourself here in this field of the systems of light presented through this collective gathering.

It always brings you into refreshing yourself, helping you to remember and bring it back into the member that you are of a physical body system working cohesively with the nonphysical body systems and within the collective consciousness which is a great body of light. In a sense you are a single cell existing within the most creative beautiful creative life force- the pure design system.

It goes beyond more than the words we are bringing through to you, so this is where you open yourself to receive the intention, the concept, that is a combination of a pure system of creative sensations and formations and the concepts are brought through into consciousness, into consciousness such as you are in your nonphysical form.

It is a consciousness state of existence and presenting that higher field consciousness always in you, through you, around you.

This is the energy that perhaps will enlighten you further, inspire you further so that you are taking it in as an inspiration, such as you would breathe in when you inspire the breath of life. The breath of life we are referring to is this pure design system – pure consciousness, the energy system - and therefore you are receiving what is surrounding you in the streams of frequency patterns coming in through your central solar portal and those are coming in from the creative life force.

Breathe it all into you. Take it all into you. Draw it into you in your nonphysical system here first and that makes adjustments. It adjusts to the frequency patterns. It is the support system. It is the nourishment for the life form that you maintain through the nonphysical receptors which then merge into the physical receptors deeply within every cell within every space within you.

This is the information presented to you today informing you and you will be taking it into form in this way. This is the presentation.”

Thank you. Lani speaking again and my sense is that while I have been speaking the words, I am absorbing the frequency pattern that is presented. It is wonderful to be able to do this to present it to you, perhaps confirming many things to you that you know already or have been sensing.

Bring the sense of this deeply into your form, your physical form from the nonphysical form that is consciousness. You already are doing this because it is time to bring it into reality and make it real and make the connections stronger as you create and expand the reality you exist in currently.

I trust this will be inspiring you, as was presented, and this ends this session through Omega Communications.

Bring your awareness deeply within you, deeply within the core energy channel of you, the central intelligent system within the body form system and it connects you deeply to the consciousness that is this living space, the planet named Earth. This is the reality that you are cocreating.

Thank you.

Lani
