The correction system, clears energy fields

Lani bringing these communications to you again, continuing energy and information, if you have been regularly reading these, of if you are new to these sessions, there is energy and information contained in the flow of words brought to you from the frequency pattern known to you through your system of light. The system of light is often called your light body, your pure essence, or your nonphysical consciousness. All of that represents you and now come with us as a group assembling in a dimensional frequency space and place known as the Station of Light

This is where your presence, along with everyone else gathered, will draw in energy and information patterns. There may simply be a few words that you resonate with or it may be an entire session you resonate with. It is anything and everything that you will draw into you in this space. Thank you.

“in continuing the flow of information patterns, we as the collective consciousness and you as the collective consciousness of the pure state of existence will be bringing through information patterns of light.

Together, there is a greater field of energy system available to you, available to you in a continuous way. You may have been feeling different. You may have been feeling unsure of what has been occurring around you, not simply what is presented through your perhaps news media, but feeling within yourself there is a change, a shift. This is a result of the energy light patterns, the frequencies Earth is receiving and you are receiving and this is a common denominator all through creative energy systems.

Think about the central sun of your known solar system as simply one receiving nexus point connected with the functionality and the presence of many other nexus points, or you might say other solar systems. You may be aware of those but you do not need to study the science that delivers the information to you.

Your focus is purely accepting the frequency patterns of light, energy and information coming through your nexus point – your solar portal to you. It is a connection. In another system you delivered yourself in through your solar portal as part of your presentation into creation and into your current body form. So, when we remind you to retune yourself to your original point of origin, you are instantly and correctly aligning yourself with the energy pattern needed for you.

Just as you would see in certain conditions streams and beams of light coming through the sun, it is a representation of what you are receiving through the actual frequency patterns, the system of light, necessary for your system of light surrounding you and we are addressing you here in your system of light.

In this way you are changing what occurs. You might think something is disturbing your physical body. What is happening is initially, as you continue to attune yourself to the original source pattern of your light body, you are receiving the incoming energy frequencies that refresh, that awaken, that enliven even more your nonphysical light body presence.

Understand this, for it is important. It is a way that we are assisting you to enliven yourself more and to introduce into the body the correct light pattern. It is a correction system, an upgrade system and this balances and normalizes the motions and processes within the physical body. This is the basis of the physical body. Remember, you have been taught that the physical body developed and at a certain moment in the intersections of creation, the nonphysical, your life support, your life essence body entered to bring in the patterns for the continuation and correct development of the physical form.

However, this became entangled in constructs that exist within the Earth-plane construct which really has been constructed out of disinformation patterns coming through and presented as truth and so the body adjusted to what was presented in the Earth plane construct – the physical fields that can be manipulated and changed.

Our sessions are always to remind you to reconnect to your pure point of origin, your pure light system and already recognizing this in the way it is delivered to you in this session will help you understand the importance of realizing you are this nonphysical light body formation and this is currently changing the body formation you recognize as your physical form. It is bringing it up into the design system that the human body vehicle was designed to be, so it would house the light systems of your true system intelligence of the nonphysical, the dimensional, field of existence.

This energy field, this dimensional form of you – multidimensional and interdimensional – it has no limit, it is simply focusing within you as the personality, as the physical form currently – to initiate this level of patterns of frequency of light. Your body is needing it. The intelligent system of the Earth process is needing it. The consciousness of the living earth is needing it. There are natural receptors of all this light system within the natural plant and animal kingdoms. You are of the animal kingdom but because you have choice and you were dominated by what was presented to you physically and mentally, you lost the true connection to revitalize and renew yourself from prime source creation.

Now, the more that you connect to this and allow your body to then be enlivened by this pure intelligent system of light, then you become more adapted to the dimensional frequency pattern – or you might say the advanced civilization already establishing around you in places. You are aware of it. You hear and you see glimpses of it and you understand and feel there is this next level of existence around you. Focus upon that. Your light energy system adapts to that.

It recognizes it as the true spaces of light and energy and living systems in the greater community state of existence.

This greater community state of existence we refer to is part of the next system of civilization beyond Earth control. It is the natural expansion of consciousness.

Think about that. Would consciousness naturally expand and incorporate systems that are harming others, harming other places? Is that what you would want to create?

When you align yourself to the pure design system of creation, you are beyond that and you are already initiating greater communities of the systems of light and as part of that and as part of you allowing your light body nonphysical system to be present, there is clearing away of disturbances that perhaps still existed in your energy field in the overlaying matrix field and that had been affecting and distorting the cellular processes.

Again, absorb the higher light frequency pattern within you. This is what you have been waiting for and you are working with it and it is working within you and through you.

This is what you have received in this session. It is important for you.”

Lani speaking again and it is my time and place and space to help you integrate this from this collective gathering space into your physicality space.

Feel your light body system all around you. See that it is clear. If it doesn't feel clear – your energy field doesn't feel clear – that's your light body, your nonphysical body – then you simply place yourself back in alignment with the true system of light.

Bring this into you right now, right down into your feet connected into the prime system of light existing within the planetary consciousness – it is the basis of life. The basis of your life is this system of light you are receiving.

This ends this session through Omega Communications. Take in a natural breath, and as you let it out, become aware you are receiving this and merge back into the flow of time as we experience it. Take a few moments to make sure you are fully connected into Earth space. Thank you.
