Mind chatter interference?

Receive original pulsing frequency

Lani speaking to you and drawing you into this inner space and it is your inner space even though we come together as if we are a group ready to receive.

As you listen to this, how are you feeling about your life in this state of your life? How are you feeling about your station of life?

As we question, come together and present yourself into this collective space with the collective consciousness in the living space we refer to as the Station of Light.

In here already you have opened yourself to receive in your nonphysical state and to be fully present as a nonphysical consciousness – a living essence – into this collective consciousness field. In this way you are ready to receive today's energy and information.

"Indeed, you are as this collective consciousness yourself.

We remind you of this in the continuation of many gatherings that you have entered and participated in. Your presence brings in a state of consciousness which you participate in and yet you are creating it yourself.

What have you created to be present in this state to fulfill an aspect, to fulfill perhaps you feel a basic need? Why have you presented yourself in this state?

These are questions you bring in with you into this consciousness field, and the answers are presented to you in the form of energy patterns around you. Are you sensing these? Are you sensing frequency patterns around you - and these initially, for each and everyone of you present, initiate a pull, like a gravitational pull you might discern it as – but it is pulling around your energy field, opening up energy space around you that you would call your energy field and this corresponds to the energy field around you, around your physical presence wherever you are receiving this in your physicality, in your body formation.

So, consistently in this collective field of consciousness you are reminded that you are always fully connected into the prime source of energy information patterns.

This will be representing a state that you are aware of that requires interaction with the original creative field for your life story.

It is a state that balances what you are experiencing. It is a state that brings you into coherence with the original pattern and it is an ongoing pattern of creation because you are creating through your nonphysical presence interacting with the energy field around your physicality – you are continuing a field of creation within your physicality form and around it. This is the basic energy message you are receiving in this presentation.

You have come to - you could say - reformulate your form in accordance with the basic principle of ongoing creation. The difference is that, when you step into this field you are free from any dominating or controlling influences that exist within the planetary subsystem of consciousness. This is a continuation, a creative continuation to, in a sense, keep you limited and keep you focused within events that are presented to you daily in the physicality realm. That physicality realm is influenced by very strong mental projection.

When you consistently return to the field of consciousness of the joyful creativeness of you, the original pattern of creation, you let go of all that interference in your energy field. It is like static, chatter, a continuation that comes into your mind as consistent chatter. Now you move out of this. Essentially in this space where you are receiving with us you are reforming and rejuvenating yourself. In this consistent field you are consistently receiving the incoming pulses that resonate with the pulse frequency that flows and is your physicality. It is pulsing.

We refer to the pulsations which need to be resonating with the pulsations originating through the pure creative element that you link with that you recognize as the source of light for your planet. It is an open-source frequency. It is a portal through which the energy comes through from the quasmic field of all creation that comes in through the central intelligent portal – the sun portal – and the pulsations that you receive need to be matching and bringing the pulsations of your physical energy system into a cohesive pattern – coherence, you see. This amplifies the energy systems within you.

Many of you have known there was another element, there was something else needed for you as you function as a physical being and yet the physical being brings in the light system from your pure system of light, your intelligent nonphysical aspect, to bring in this energy pulsation frequency and more than that – it brings you into alignment with the potential that you have to engage the field within you. There are natural responses around you and within you of creating beauty – a joyful creation in some way.

You are recognizing this. This is confirming to you and so you are conforming yourself and reforming yourself in accordance with the pure frequency enlivening you in every way. Have you engaged yourself within this frequency pulsation effect? There is a natural pulse throughout you and throughout the planetary being itself there is a natural pulse frequency that you tap into especially when you connect, come in physical contact in some way or your energy field comes in physical contact with what the Earth is pulsing in accordance with the pulsing of light frequency it receives.

You are a natural receiver of this and part of receiving is giving forth this pure element.

This is what you came in to receive in this session and your entry into it and thus you have received it and thus you have received the energy message of this day. It will stay with you.

Remember it. Contain it and refigure yourself in accordance with it.”

This is Lani speaking again and so we were left with that energy field pulsing throughout each one of us within. The natural pulse of life. There are many interesting facets to these sessions, and I am sure you are receiving them.

Perhaps, as I do, you listen to previous sessions and you receive more and this allows you to receive today's session in a more complete way.

Now it is time to bring all this back into your system, your physicality system, connected to the consciousness field we recognize as planet Earth in its pureness.

Bring yourself back recognizing current time, in the current, in the pulsation of time that we exist within and as and we contribute to this. This is a reminder to be fully consciously present in life – your life – enjoying this life.

This ends this session through Omega Communications.

Thank you.
