Absorbing the Frequency. Field of Existence

I am Lani offering you this opportunity again to join with other ones like yourself with the intention of bringing ourselves into the correct point of focus – a state of receptivity – and to assist this, first of all feel that I am gathering you together as a group. As a group together we can focus within our nonphysical presence. Therefore we can be beyond time and place and we can gather together in the receiving state and station known as the Station of Light.

Here we are and this is how we begin this session today.

“Welcome. You have delivered yourselves into this open state of mind, of awareness, of consciousness and as the collective group here, you might talk about us as being Galactic Beings, Star Beings, we are all one. You are one with that. In this way as you take the opportunity to assemble into a gathered group with the intention to opening up more to what really is existence, then this is why you have been drawn into this space.

You are beyond the limitations, or the conceptual limitations, of mind personality. You simply are here as the presence, as the enlightened aspect, the nonphysical aspect of self.

Already you have moved beyond the presence and presentation of this area named the Station of Light and you are gathering information in from the quantum field. It is out in the cosmic field of creation, the quasmic field and you gather the information that you know exists and you have known you have utilized the energy frequency patterns in and of that quasmic field of consciousness – of existence.

Your present nonphysical existence is already fully open and connected with the quasmic field of existence.

What does this mean for you – you could be asking yourself – and why have I been presented into this field of consciousness.

This is for you to access the important frequency and multiple frequencies from one frequency that denotes creation. The frequency that you are open to receive. Your intelligent consciousness, your field of intelligence, is already absorbing and accepting the frequency.

The frequency here is what you are bringing directly through the nonphysical energy state into the physical energy state.

There are specific, you could say, properties that are part of the nonphysical experience of this quasmic field that is existence. This is in turn moving throughout the pattern that exists as you know your physical life existence is – how you experience life, what you do with the experiences, how you react to the experiences.

Deliberately accessing this field of existence - it is complete in every way, it is balanced and it is therefore balancing and regulating your field of existence, your consciousness field. You see, this exists ultimately beyond your known physical senses. It exists within the nonphysical senses, because it is an existence that the nonphysical participates within.

In this way the participation of your nonphysical is actively accessing what is needed for you as the individual and around you in the individual existence you are participating in.

This is the point of bringing you into this nexus which is your existence coexisting in the prime consciousness field that is existence.

It is necessary often to remind you in different ways what you are doing within your lifeframe.

You are consciously now connecting into the nonphysical existence – manifesting that.

If you have been perhaps working to re-establish a clear connection into the nonphysical existence of consciousness, then this deliverance to you is assisting you in that way.

Remember, it is nonphysical existence – it is a field of nonphysical existence that you are accessing and you are manifesting it throughout your systems of life.

Thus, this is the purpose of bringing you into this gathering, receiving this.”

Thank you.

This is Lani speaking again and there is always a purpose they refer to and there is often a play on words. They change word patterns, they speak in a different word pattern to our normal speaking conversation voice and it all is assisting you to access that consciousness field – the existence – the nonphysical existence. This is why you are bringing it now into your physical existence.

In a way, you have never left that nonphysical existence state of knowing everything. This is helping you remember that and know it.

Now I know it is time to bring your focus and full attention back into current time in the reality that you are existing within as the physical body unit and everything that it is.

So, here you are – you have received – or you have been on another inner journey and you have received what you needed to receive. It stays with you, continues to work around you because it is the nonphysical existence that you are.

This ends this session through Omega Communications. Thankyou for subscribing and continue to accessing the ongoing information.
