Specific Quasmic Coordinates Energy Matrix

Hello – Lani speaking. Are you ready to come with me into the very deep space that is you? Going so deeply within yourself that you move past emotions and thoughts into clarity, into absolute clear space and this is the space where you receive, and allow yourself to receive and experience the quasmic field, the collective consciousness. Always there is the presence of the collective consciousness into this deep space within you and around you and existing within what we call our solar system.

We move into this collective gathering space known as the Station of Light. Here we are - ready to participate and be immersed in this greater field of consciousness.

“You are acknowledged, and greeted, and in response to your presence you are bringing through to you through this medium through which we speak, you are bringing through to yourself precise energy connection.

You could say you move into specific coordinates that are measurable and identifiable and yet these specific coordinates that you enter within are part of a quasmic framework measured in a different way than you measure geographical coordinates in your Earth time reality.

These intersections within the matrix of consciousness are necessary as you move deeply within yourself and you connect into these connecting points. They provide you with the form of sustenance that you require, always.

You have known about this, you have experienced this during your early days of entry into the Earth body you are immersed within currently and so this is a reminder and the awareness that you bring into this lifetime is carried forward into every action, every time experience that you have as you know yourself to be experiencing time.

The specific coordinates, again, are part of the energetic matrix field surrounding you throughout you in the construct of your physicality system and around the Earth construct in its presence. There is always the continuation of moving more deeply and accepting the energy that comes in through the nexus point within this quantum matrix field of life.

This is expanding your horizon to beyond the Earth field into the constructive creative presence and the purpose of your life.

Continuing to access this field of information awakens the necessary elements that are ready for you to utilize as you continue experiencing and participating in the purpose of the creativeness that is known as you, as a named individual.

This is the point of this expression to you of describing and presenting yourself into this session so that you are receiving the specific coordinates and information patterns for you.

These will be and are indeed distributing the frequencies throughout your energy system.

Be aware also, as you continue to present this pure life design system in and around you, it is having a ripple out effect all around your planetary system into other experiences that people have drawn into their lives.

You are choosing what experiences you are bringing into your own life. Be aware of this. We have presented you this experience in this time for you to understand this and to accept it in your energy field, that is your nonphysical field and presentation, and so therefore it is deeply absorbed into this deep inner well of your own well-being of the presentation of you as this energy body and yet the energy body is presenting the energy field – that is your consciousness that came forth to do this – into you.

This is the presentation around you and through you and offered to you for you to embrace and integrate in a continuous fashion.

Thus it is.”

Thank you.

This is Lani speaking again I thank that collective consciousness and I thank YOU participating in this, presenting it to yourself – part of this quantumness – this quantum quasmic field of consciousness.

Perhaps you have learned a bit more, you understand more of what you have been experiencing recently, in between sessions perhaps.

Now this is where we return ourselves deeply into the very core energy essence that is your physical presence. This is important. You are bringing in this quantum field you have been accessing more clearly in this deep immersion.

Know that it is deeply immersed within you and it ripples out through you.

Now orient yourself back within the time space rhythm that we experience on Earth and you will be aware that this brings you into the happiness field that is your natural state of being-ness – being fully present.

This ends this presentation through Omega Communications.

Thank you.

Lani
