Credible Creation System Light Field Natural Filtration

Lani speaking to you and communicating through the communication network that we use, whether that is through the printed word or listening to a podcast or listening to it through video somewhere. It is a communication network, the same communication network that we use sensing who is around us and who is going to communicate with us.

Initially as we gather ourselves together in a communication network known as the Omega system, then together we move in consciousness, as a conscious connection, into the collective consciousness and we move into that space known as the Station of Light and it separates us from the everyday workings and control systems that exist around us in the everyday physical type world. It is all an appearance and here you have appeared in your extra-sensory perceptive body within this field and we will be communicating with the collective consciousness here.

"We address you and we welcome you into this space. You are one with us, but we welcome you as you would welcome a dear friend into your home space.

This is the opportunity again for you to allow yourself to become remembering you are a member of a collective consciousness field, and this is a field of, shall we say, higher intelligence. It is the intelligent creation system we refer to. It is not a level of intelligence that you might measure in Earthly terms. This is the intelligent creative life force that you all originated from. That is what we are referring to and referring to it in this way helps you to reconnect yourself and to remember the point of existence. The point of your existence.

The point of your existence is to access that incredible energy system of creation and it creates, you see. It is a credible creation system and it is within every creation that you are creating. You are creating creation through your use of thoughts and words and the thoughts and words vibrating through your own frequency pattern that you call your life, changes that life in accordance with the frequency that you have aligned yourself with.

Remember, the reconnection is your valuable tool to eliminate lower field creations and to amplify as you access the creative point of existence. These words help you to align correctly to the point of existence of creation and therefore all that you are here lightens up, becomes brighter and lighter and you refuel yourself – you fill yourself with this energy system.

This is the prime frequency that you take into you through your patterns of light and through patterns of food which contain patterns of light when they are created out of the natural Earth substance which is created with light frequency.

You are a Being that is Light and to continue that, you need to refresh yourself, you need to remember to immerse yourself in the light and to infuse yourself with the light.

This is the simple message that comes to you today as a Being of Light,

Then you bring it in through you, through your thought patterns into memory patterns. Often, you are rethinking memory patterns which keep you locked into certain fields of frequency which may not be assisting you now. This is often the reason that you are drawn into this Station of Light into the state of light where those lower field thought patterns are filtered out of you. It is a natural filtration, and we refer to this in many of our sessions to you. The natural filtration process.

This occurs when you are outside in the light field without obstruction, without interference. You absorb it through your energy field and then it is absorbed through the skin energy field and therefore into all the tissue which is constituting your physical framework and body.

We may be referring more often to your physical state of your existence. This is so that you reform that in accordance with the prime creative field of light and creativity. It is built into you. It is a natural response that is built into your energy system to receive the patterns of light.

There may be tools that you can use to help you remember the light. The tools must be created out of the light system or infused with the light system that is appropriate for you individually. That light system that is appropriate for you individually is from your point of creation – the one point – and thus you are replenishing again yourself.

You see, this is the simple message again given to you in this deliverance.

It is familiar to you. The simplicity of it is familiar to you and you have received it.”

Acknowledged.

This is Lani speaking again, bringing that creative energy field in through my mind, in through my body system so that I continue to bring it out to you and into the communication network that surrounds us as individuals and it surrounds us as the group collective existing within this planetary system.

That is the importance of you being consciously present living this life in the best way that you can and enhancing it with the frequency pattern, light pattern that you have received in this session.

Feel it. Bring it into you completely, right down to your feet connected into the energy field that is Earth, balancing it, clearing it in every way.

This is the session through Omega Communications today.

Do make sure you are fully consciously present, much more alive and aware than when you first entered this session. This completes this deliverance today.

Thank you.

Lani
